Supervisors Secure Outside Money For Welfare

The best method of cutting taxes is to SAVE taxes.

This is what the Supervisors did during the distressing years from 1930 to 1936. In the welfare department alone the Supervisors under the leadership of Edgar Hastings, who was chairman of the welfare committee saved the taxpayers $1,751,687, by obtaining money from outside sources. In 1932 the Supervisors used $230,679 from the General Reserve, to complete the welfare budget. In 1933 the Supervisors obtained from the Federal Government in Washington $200,920. In 1934 the Supervisors borrowed from State Bond money, to be paid out of gas tax, $495,834, and obtained from the Federal Government assistance to the amount of $160,481.

In 1935 the Supervisors borrowed from State Bond money $310,289 and received another appropriation of $221,535 of Federal funds. In 1936 they used $131,950 of savings from the general fund and expect to get $660,000 Federal relief money to complete the Civic Center.

RECAPITULATION

From Savings general fund	$362,629
From Federal Government	$582,935
From State bond issue	$806,123
Total	$1,751,687

The last items or—$1,389,058 were obtained from sources and DO NOT, and WILL NOT, reflect in your real estate taxes. This money was used to feed the hungry and care for the distressed. Had the Supervisors not obtained this outside money your taxes would have been much higher. Mr. Hastings deserves credit for this fine piece of financing.

ADULT CLASSES IN SHORT STORIES EVERY MONDAY

Registrations are now being taken for the free classes in short-story writing instructed by J. A. Mallory every Monday evening in the bungalow, Ocean Beach school. These classes are sponsored by the federal Adult Education program, and are free to all adults.

All phases of short-story writing are taught with particular emphasis on making stories adaptable to the needs of present-day magazines.

Classes are held every Monday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Forty New Subscribers Added to News List

The Ocean Beach News owners, are highly gratified with the substantial increase that is being shown every day in the addition of names to its subscription list.

Our old subscribers are paying up practically 100 per cent, the best in the history of the present proprietors, who came here in May of 1931.

In July we added over 110 new names to our list and then kept no definite record of the number of additions per week, however, some two weeks ago, our solicitor Pat Coghlan, again entered the field and to date the following new subscribers are regularly receiving the News. Many of the names listed are at Mission Beach which has never before been canvassed so thoroughly by our office.

Yarn Shop & Knit Store Opens Saturday

Mrs. C. H. Woolley and daughters will on Saturday this week open a yarn shop in the Strand theatre building and according to their advertisement in this issue of the News, they will give free instructions in knit work and also take orders for garments made to measure.

Jack Woolley of the Globe players is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Woolley and during his residence here the greater part of the last two years he became so favorably impressed he induced his parents to come here from their old home in Pittsburg, Pa. Jack is now at the Dallas Centennial, but expects to return here when the Globe players engagement there is completed.

The senior Woolleys recently bought the John Zervas residence at 4835 W. Point Loma Blvd., where they expect to make their permanent home.

This week's social thermometer, and there is one, is not influenced by June brides or Santa Claus, but registers the normal seriousness of enjoyable living, with at-homes after exciting early Fall trips, and in party groups around card tables. The first parties promise a social temperature.

Miss Katherine Coull was hostess Saturday evening when she entertained a party of subdebs at her home, 1869 Cable street. The ever-popular "Scavenger Hunt" featured the affair.

The Misses Anna and Cecelia Martin were charming hostesses at their home Friday evening, entertaining members of the Trinity church choir. Guests numbered twenty.

Kuta Saume Give Rush Party—

The home of Miss Mary Shreve was the scene of one of the first rush parties given last Thursday evening by the Kuta Saume college group of Campfire Girls.

An evening in Monte Carlo was the theme of the gay affair. Hostesses were Mary Shreve, Virginia Swanson, Marjorie Vestal, and Virginia Lillicrap. Those honored were Misses Peggy Stewart, Lucille Levin, Geraldine Turner, Rosemary Mahoney, Jean Dale, Marjorie Cooper, Betsy Ross, Pat Buckley, Barbara Freeman, Phyllis Bowlby, Joan Everson, Marcella Kreizinger, Harriet Dively and Mary Seigrist.

Bridge for Eight—

Dinner at eight is smart; so is bridge for eight. Hostesses are being that way these days.

Mrs. E. E. Wells was hostess at two tables of bridge in her home the first of the month. The high score of Mrs F. C. Barks claimed first prize. Playing were Mesdames E. H. Rheinhold, J. T. Schumacher, Jas. Oliver, T. H. O'Mara, W. S. Harris, F. C. Barks, F. H. Decker, and E. E. Wells.

Mrs. Andrew J. Bandis entertained Thursday last with bridge for eight. Mrs. A. Cochran and Mrs. C. H. Burns were awarded the highest scores. Guests were Mesdames F. P. Abel, E. J. Rasmussen, J. Gooch, C. H. Burns T. A. Johns, A. Cochran, and G. Parks.

Now Six Years of Age

Master John Douglas Bandis celebrated his sixth birthday October first in the traditional manner, a lighted cake and ice cream. Eight playmates were bidden to the W. J. Bandis home on Sunset Cliffs boulevard for the affair.

Birthday Feted

Mrs. Jessie Davis Hocking was given a delightful surprise party last Wednesday honoring her seventy-fifth birthday at her home "Idlease" on Pescadero avenue..

The hostess, Mrs. James H. Roche, assisted by Mesdames Wm. M. White, R. C. Yourstone, Harry M. Davis and R. R. Dalrymple, decorated with profusion of yellow blossoms. Smart table appointments featured yellow-frosted cakes and antique brass candle sticks.

Mrs. Hocking was showered in a unique manner. During the evening prizes were won in various games (with gifts) by Mesdames Fred Jennings, Ethel Craig, Leona De Marce, and Harry M. Davis

Out-of-town guests were Mesdames Yourstone, White and Davis, who motored from San Gabriel Valley. Other Guests were Mrs. Hocking, Mesdames Ada L. McClain, Fred Jennings, L. H. Arnold, Jennie Hansen, M. B. Stewart, Leona De Marce, George Pasho, R. R. Dalrymple, B. J. Duffy and Ethel Craig.

Come Backs

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Hayward spent a fortnite renewing acquaintances and sightseeing in Arizona, Nevada, Utah and Southern California. The circle they described included Boulder Dam, Grand Canyon National Park. Jacob Lake, Zion National Park, and the towns of Barstow, Bakersfield and Hollywood.

The Haywards especially enjoyed the more picturesque north rim of the Grand Canyon, where they at one time saw license plates representing twenty-four States and two territories, and the drive from Bright Angel to Port Royal. Mr. Hayward was the construction engineer of this noted road thru the Kaibab Forest.

Mrs. Jean S. Parmalee, her sister, Mrs. C. H. S. Cook and daughter, Miss Florence Cook, returned last Sunday after ten enjoyable days spent traveling in California and Oregon. En route they visited Crater Lake, Sequoia National Park, Lake Tahoe and Yosemite National Park.

Mrs. Cook, whose home is in Canada, has been visiting here for some time.

Capt. and Mrs. Henry Lancaster returned Monday from a month's pleasure trip involving experiences both unique and exciting. During their three weeks seeing Texas and visiting friends and relatives there. They sojourned for ten days at Fort Worth and spent some time at St. Angelo where they were held captive by the recent disastrous floods.

Returning from Texas they stopt in Ocean Beach only long enough to touch home and then continue on to San Francisco where they celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding in that city September 30. While there they visited Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Gill, former Ocean Beach residents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bigley and Mr. and Mrs. Thompson. Mrs. Alice Thompson is Mrs. Lancaster's niece.

Stopping, they visited Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Walling in Los Angeles.

Out of State Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Nugent of Coronado avenue, are entertaining house-guests from the East, Mrs. Patricia Abbot and Emil Debo of Buffalo, New York, and Herbert Williams of Lockport, New York.

Miss Frances Burt is entertaining her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton A. Pratt of Omaha, Nebraska. They are living at the Grace Apartments while here.

Mr. and Mrs. Pratt sojourned in Sonoma County before coming to Ocean Beach. It will not surprise friends if they remain in Southern Californa indefinitely.

Weekends Away

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Damron, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Duane Stafford of El Centro, motored to Whittier Saturday where they were honored guests at a dinner dance gven by the 1935 association of the White Shrine.

Before their return Monday the Damrons visited Mrs. Gladys Hendricks and daughter, Miss Helen, of Pomona.

Miss Georgia Damron spent the weekend in Los Angeles visiting her sister and brother-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Wm. G. Woodman. Dr. Woodman is a former Ocean Beach and San Diego physician.

Mrs. Bessie Harrison was the guest last week of Mrs. E. C. Bangs of San Diego at the Bangs' Pine Valley cabin. A number of Point Loma guests were invited for the weekend.

Society Variety

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Rabsahl have just spent a month in Oklahoma——Dr. and Mrs. I. W. Parks left Wednesday for several days' rest in Los Tules——Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Rasmussen left Saturday to be gone two weeks for an undetermined destination——Mrs. Myra Rife Smith has been away a fortnite. She visited the State Fair at Sacrmento and was delighted with the "whiskereno" events of the north——Mrs. C. W. Varney, Mrs. Elizabeth Corley and Mrs. Ella Smith drove to Warner Springs with Mr. Greebe Saturday. The trip was different as they were privileged in visiting the location of the recent color version motion picture of Ramona.

Feminine Fancies—

The question being askt this week in baritone, tenor and soprano voices is just to what extent should the men rate the social calendar. The answer,, if it is true what they say, is so far as femmes fancy. With such a verdict in this case there are two examples worthy of note this week.

William Byron Culbert, former "Clark Gable" of Imperial Valley and added Beach attraction, spent Tuesday in Los Angeles. But then perhaps he went to renew friendships with his profs at U.S.C.

Johnnie Madsen, who needs no introduction to the fair sex or rivals either, for that matter, returned Saturday after a week's stay in Portersville, California. In spite of the known fact that he was ineligible to participate in the Wiskerino so popular 'in them thar parts' Johnnie confesses to more than one memorable event. Intimates do not question why.

Club Doings

The Trinity Mission announces a benefit Halloween Party to be given October 30, seven p.m. in Wallace Hall on Sunset Cliffs Boulevard.

Mrs. Julia T. M'Garvey, chairman of the study department of Ocean Beach Woman's Club, announces the second meeting of that department for October 12, 7:45, at the home of Mrs. Caroline Joos, 4328 Muir avenue.

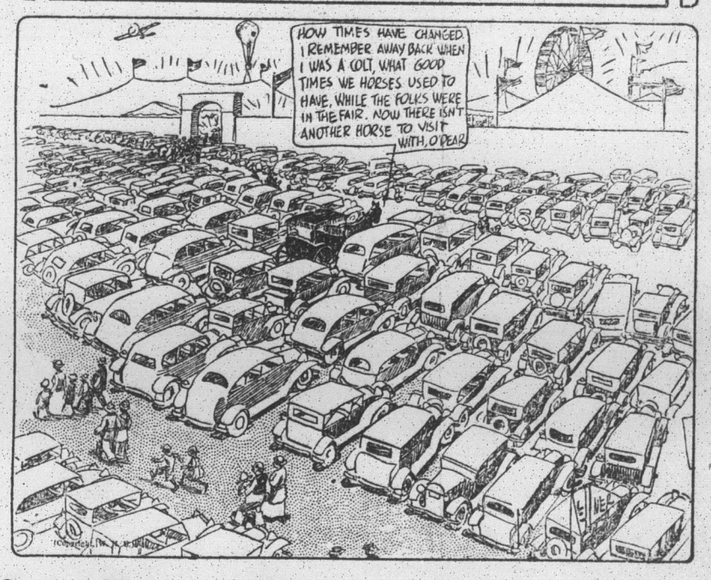
Mrs. Eugenie Sterne will review the much-heralded book Around the World in Eleven Years by the three child-authors. All club members are invited to attend the department meetings.

The Morning Forum, sponsored by then Ocean Beach Woman's Club, announces the second in a series of discussions on international affairs. John R. Lyon, head of the co-ordinating council of San Diego county, will lead the continued discussion on the subject "To Amend or Not to Amend the Constitution." The Morning Forum is under the direction of Mrs. D. H. Horner and meetings are held each Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. in the Ocean Beach Woman's Clubhouse. Club members are eligible to attend.

NEW HOMES FOR OLD DISCUSSION FOR PTA

Would you have a "new home"? "New homes for old" will be the topic for discussion at the regular meeting of PTA on October 14 in the Ocean Beach school auditorim. Mrs. Helen Graw, child psychologist will be there at two to lead the discussion. Of course all you who have heard her before will be there and you who are new will find this a pleasant and profitable afternoon. If your child isn't in school as yet you will still get something of real value from this discussion.

At the Fair



HOW TIMES HAVE CHANGED I REMEMBER AWAY BACK WHEN I WAS A COLT, WHAT GOOD TIMES WE HORSES USED TO HAVE, WHILE THE FOLKS WERE IN THE FAIR. NOW THERE ISN'T ANOTHER HORSE TO VISIT WITH, O DEAR

San Diego County Fair Opens

San Diego country fair gates at Del Mar opened yesterday. Thousands of exhibits occupying more than 200,000 feet of space and reflecting the importance of the agricultural, floricultural, horticultural, livestock and industrial enterprises of this county won acclaim from the many first-day visitors.

With Gov. Frank F. Merriam and Frank Y. McLaughlin, state director of WPA, speaking before a throng which included federal, state county and city officials and ranking Army, Navy and Marine officers, the county fair officially was opened with impressive rites.

The diversity of the exhibits, their educational value and the completeness of the display won acclaim from the many visitors.

Sportsmen throughout Southern California turned to the new Del Mar track where tomorrow the first in a series of eight days of racing events will get underway. Racing beginning tomorrow will be a feature atttraction every day except next Monday until the fair closes on Oct. 18.

W. A. Quigley, director of racing, and Frank Lieginger, racing secretary, were on hand yesterday making final arrangements for the first events. More than 300 horses, representing the cream of the nation's trotters and pacers, will compete for more than $15,500 in awards.

Sportsmen will place their wagers on their favorite horses thru the state-supervised parimutuel machines which will be maintained during the fair.

Earl Haas Has Sold Sunnyside Market

Mr. and Mrs. Earl J. Haas of the Sunnyside Market, 4665-71 Voltaire street have sold their grocery store and meat market to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hansen who have been in the same line of business at 25th and Market streets for the past eight years.

The Haas family will do some looking around and take at least a month's vacation before deciding "what next". They have been substantial business people of our beach for many years and will no doubt remain with us as they have other property interests here.

Mr. and Mrs. Haas have moved to 4826 Voltaire street temporarily.

Republicans Establish Headquarters Here

Republican headquarters were opened in Ocean Beach, Tuesday by Chas. L. Hoopes for the Republican Assembly, which Hoopes says is an organization of the younger and more progressive Republicans of the county.

Mr. Hoopes is in need of precinct workers as time is now limited before election day and those who can are asked to call at local headquarters, 1917 Bacon street, and give the time they can spare.

For information call BV-3829.

San Diego Honored As 4-County Diocese

(The Southern Cross)

"The Diocese of San Diego"—sounded on the lips of Catholics thruout the newly formed See with a happy lilt this week as word arrived from the Vatican of the Holy Father's action, the more glorious because of its unheralded coming at a time when the Church is persecuted in many countries and Pope Pius XI is besought with many problems. That he should find time to cosider the needs of Southern California at this time and to bestow upon the city of San Diego the honor of being an episcopal city, is looked upon with pleasure by Catholic and non-Catholic alike.

The Diocese of San Diego, for whom the first bishop will be appointed by the Holy See soon, is to be composed of San Diego, Riverside, San Bernardino and Imperial counties. St. Joseph's church of which the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John M. Hegarty, V. F., is pastor, will serve as the Cathedral church. Msgr. Hegarty, who is on his way home from a visit with relatives in his old home in Ireland, was to have reached New York this week.

Nearly a hundred years ago, in 1840, when Catholicity was in its infancy in California, the then Pope Gregory XVI formed the Diocese of California with San Diego as its episcopal city. Bishop Francisco Garcia Diego was the first Bishop and he arrived here to find San Diego, which was located at Old Town, a little village of 150 souls. One of his first acts was to administer the Sacrament of Confirmation and on December 19, for the first time in the history of the whole west coast, he conferred sacred orders on a few students accompanying him from Mexico. Bishop Diego and his retinue were assigned apartments at the Juan Bandini home, a historical landmark in Old Town, but because of the few inhabitants and the unsuitable accomodations, he transferred his residence to Old Mission Santa Barbara about a month after coming to San Diego. A few years later, in July, 1849, San Diego's first resident pastor was assigned to the Old Town parish and then began the steady growth and pioneering that has thru the years prepared for San Diego to come to its own— the See city of San Diego.

Bus to High School Renewed Temporarily

A local delegation met with the city school board Monday evening to continue their plea for bus service being extended to the high school grounds, which request was acceded to by the school board on a month to month basis, it is reported.

Ray Reynolds, president of the board and local resident, relinquished his office to another member during the discussion so that he might join in voicing the request with the Ocean Beach group. He has been highly commended for his earnest endeavor in the matter.

Former Expo Kiddie Rides at Mission Beach

Will open Saturday, October 10, at South end of Midway—Mission Beach Amusement Center, and will be open each Saturday and Sunday following.

France Devalues Franc; Gold Standard Dropped

FRANCE at last came to the conclusion that it could no longer support the franc and Premier Leon Blum's government decided to abandon the gold standard and devaluate the franc to between 4½ and 5 cents. The Netherlands, Latvia and Switzerland immediately determined to follow suit. To save the world from a currency war; the United States, Great Britain and France entered into a "gentlemen's agreement." The exact nature of this agreement was not revealed, but the United States promised to employ its $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund to head off the feared struggle. Certain it is that each of the three nations reserves the right to depart from the pact if and when its own interests require such a course. An expected outcome of the now general dropping of the gold standard may be an international conference for stabilization of world currencies. This might be held in Washington.

Leon Blum

Blum called a special session of the French parliament to pass the necessary legislation, and his plan was given grudging approval by the chamber of deputies. Its adoption by the chamber, where the "popular front" has a big majority, was taken for granted, but a fight was expected in the senate. The general project was divided into five sections, as follows:

1. Fixes the new gold content of the franc at a point between 43 and 49 milligrams of gold, prohibits the export or import of gold, and creates an equalization fund.

2. Permits the requisition of gold by the government, obliges individual citizens to declare their gold holdings, creates a tax on profits made from devaluation of the franc, and obliges market traders to reveal their operations in foreign exchange since September 2[illegible].

3. Creates a movable salary scale and makes various readjustments in the civil service, pension rates, etc.

4. Provides for readjustment of certain specific taxes such as those on oil, coffee, pepper, tea and sugar.

5. Makes certain changes in the debt structure of such public institutions as cities and communes necessitated by devaluation.

From the Chicago Journal of Commerce is taken this plain statement as to what France's action means to the ordinary American citizen:

"Reducing the amount of gold represented by one franc will mean that the average American will be able to travel cheaper in France than for the last two years. French wines should be cheaper in this country and women should be able to buy French perfume for less. That should be true of nearly everything else that France exports to the United States—unless this country hikes the tariff on French exports or French prices boom out of proportion to devaluation. Indirectly, franc devaluation may keep Americans from war as the act may be a wedge for currency stabilization the world over and more brotherly relations between all nations. But don't lose any sleep over it unless you are getting an income from someone in France."

Russia Hotly Denies Morgenthau's Charge

SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY MORGENTHAU excitedly told the correspondents that soviet Russia attempted to upset the "gentlemen's agreement" between the United States, Great Britain and France. The state bank of Russia, he said, moved to drive down the price of the pound sterling by ordering the sale in New York of 1,000,000 pounds sterling "at any price." He said he frustrated this scheme by buying the pounds offered with money from the Treasury's stabilization fund.

The Soviet State bank declared Morgenthau's assertion as to the bank's purpose was without foundation and a nonsensical invention; that the transaction was an ordinary banking operation. The secretary's statement, the bank continued, "appears to be an undignified anti-soviet attack which is not based on defense of international currency equilibrium and the value of sterling, but had some other aims."

Harry Woodring Named Secretary of War

HARRY H. WOODRING was named by President Roosevelt to be secretary of war, filling the vacancy caused by the death of George H. Dern. This is a recess appointment, for the place had to be filled within thirty days. It may be the President will submit the name of another man to be permanent secretary early in the next session of congress. Those most often mentioned for the place are Gov. Paul V. McNutt of Indiana and Frank Murphy, commissioner to the Philippines, who is running for governor of Michigan.

Spanish Fascists Capture City of Toledo

GEN. FRANCISCO FRANCO'S furious Spanish Fascists reached the ancient city of Toledo and drove out the government troops with shell and bayonet. The rebels fought their way through strong defense and as they reached the center of the city there was a great shout from the Alcazar. Out of that battered citadel rushed the ragged, battered and half-starved cadets who had withstood a terrific siege for almost ten weeks. This heroic garrison joined the insurgents in charging the defenders and finally the Socialist troops scattered and fled southward over the Tagus river. Their way to Madrid was blocked by Franco's columns.

Gen. Franco

Fascist bombing planes made several destructive raids on Bilbao, killing a large number of the citizens, smashing innumerable buildings and damaging two warships in the harbor. The enraged government sympathizers demanded that Fascist hostages held in the city be executed in reprisal, and finally a mob of anarchist amazons swarmed aboard a vessel on which many hostages were kept and brutally slaughtered 210 of them after putting them to the torture. The savage women were on their way to a prison to kill 60 woman hostages when they were dispersed by civil guards.

That the Spanish government realizes its precarious situation is evidenced by its proclamation ordering Madrid to prepare for a siege, followed by a manifesto calling on everyone, women as well as men, to rally to the defense of the capital.

Spain Warns Nations Not to Interfere

SPAIN'S representative in the League of Nations, Foreign Minister Julio Alvarez del Vayo, solemnly warned other nations members of that body that they must not interfere with the Spanish civil war, which he said forbode a future war, not between states but between political concepts.

"The bloodstained soil of Spain already is the battlefield of world war," he contended in what other delegates construed as an attack on Germany, Italy and Portugal for allegedly arming the Spanish Fascist insurgents. He assailed the European nonintervention agreement as "direct and positive intervention in behalf of the rebels" and as a "blockade of the lawful Spanish government."

British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden, in a rather pessimistic address, said his government stood for an amendment to the league covenant to enable the league to intervene in the early stages of a dispute. He also proposed: Negotiation of regional pacts, separation of the league covenant from postwar treaties, measures to restore international trade; inquiry, under league auspices, into the question of access to raw materials, and reduction and limitation of armaments and publicity for armament expenditures.

Minneapolis Strike of Mill Workers Ends

ABOUT 1,800 mill workers of Minneapolis returned to their jobs, their strike having been settled. It had lasted for a month and had paralyzed the great milling industry of the city. The mill owners agreed to recognize the right of collective bargaining and to permit employees to choose their own representatives. Four hundred national guardsmen who had been mobilized by Governor Petersen for strike duty in event of an emergency were sent to their homes.

American Seaman Convicted by a German Court

LAWRENCE SIMPSON, an American seaman from Seattle, who had been waiting in German prison camps for 14 months for his trial on charges of sedition, was found guilty by the people's court and sentenced to three years in prison minus the time he already has been incarcerated. Simpson admitted freely that he and three other Communists tried to launch a popular front government in Germany, saying the plan failed because one of the four was a police spy. He said he repeatedly carried Communist propaganda into Germany aboard the steamship Manhattan, and also that he furnished one of his German associates with small balloons equipped for distributing handbills.

Ethiopian Delegates Seated by League

HAILE SELASSIE couldn't whip the Italians in the Ethiopian war, but the fugitive emperor won the battle of Geneva and put Benito Mussolini's nose out of joint. After an exciting debate, the League of Nations assembly voted, 39 to 4, to seat the Ethiopian delegation, now headed by the emperor's American adviser. The negative votes were cast by Hungary, Austria and Albania, all under the thumb of Italy, and Ecuador. Ethiopia, Portugal and four other countries refrained from voting. Rather surprisingly Great Britain and France espoused the cause of Ethiopia, though it had been thought they considered the co-operation of Italy in the league of more importance than justice to the African realm. The heated debate was closed when Capt. Anthony Eden, British foreign minister, said:

Haile Selassie

"Enough of this nonsense! There never has been any sufficient ground to unseat the Ethiopian delegation."

Sir Samuel Hoare, first lord of the British admiralty, added to Italian resentment against Great Britain by declaring in London that the British intended to maintain their supremacy in the Mediterranean and would modernize and consolidate their naval, military and air defenses between Gibraltar and the Suez canal "in the light of recent experience."

New Wage and Hour Law Formally in Effect

THE Walsh-Healy act, setting wage and hour standards for certain concerns doing business with the federal government, is now formally in effect. The law was passed just before the last congress adjourned. Its chief provisions are requirements that holders of government contracts which amount to more than $10,000 must pay prevailing wage rates and pay overtime wages if their employees work more than forty hours a week. The wages requirement will be applied only gradually, since it will take months to determine the prevailing wages for all industries concerned.

Oregon Towns Destroyed by Forest Fires

FOREST fires in southwestern Oregon worked terrible havoc, and at this writing were still uncontrolled. The towns of Bandon and Prosper were entirely destroyed, eight persons losing their lives and 2,000 being left homeless. Thousands of refugees were sheltered in a tent city, and that, too, went up in flames. Armies of foresters and volunteers were working desperately to check the conflagrations and rescue those in peril. The property damage, including destroyed timber, may run above $2,000,000.

American Legion Names Colmery Its Commander

VETERANS of two great conflicts, the World war and the Civil war, held their annual conventions, the American Legion meeting in Cleveland and the Grand Army of the Republic in Washington. The legion elected Harry W. Colmery, a lawyer of Topeka, Kan., as its national commander and awarded next year's convention to New York city. Mayor La Guardia personally led the Gotham delegation in the big parade. This delegation included an impressive display of police and fire department bands, motorcycle squads and mounted officers.

Harry W. Colmery

In its business sessions the legion adopted a resolution asking the United States government to withdraw its recognition of soviet Russia. Other resolutions approved called for a 90 per cent reduction in immigration quotas and deportation of all aliens who are anarchists, communists, or affiliated with the Third Internationale; the removal from public relief rolls of aliens who have not applied for citizenship; universal application of the fingerprinting system in this country, and an investigation of methods used in disseminating "subversive doctrines."

C. H. Williams Ruhe of Pittsburgh, who ran away from home 72 years ago to join the Union army when he was only a lad of fifteen, was unanimously elected commander-in-chief of the G.A.R. and Madison, Wis., was named as the encampment city for 1937.

Japan Lands Marines in Shanghai

FOUR Chinese gunmen in Shanghai killed one Japanese marine and wounded two others, and within a few minutes a Japanese landing party more than 2,000 strong had occupied much of the Hongkew section of the international settlement. The Japanese naval commander declared martial law in that area and troops stopped buses and street cars in the search for the slayers. Tanks, armored cars, light artillery and machine gun squads poured through the streets and on into Chapei.

It's Season of Intriguing Woolens

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THE new woolens are having their day and a grand and glorious day it is, marked with new triumphs in color, in designfulness and versatile weave. They are grand and glorious beyond description and they have taken on a sheerness and featherweight texture that adds much to their lure. With the college girls the thought of a back-to-school wardrobe that does not include a costume suit fashioned of handsome wool is inconceivable. And so it's wool-gathering these fair collegians are going with all the enthusiasm of youth that sets forth to get what it wants.

Not that college-faring girls are the only ones engaged in the wild scramble to be first in fashion by going stepping in a brand new autumn ensemble styled of chic and handsome wool weave. Fact is every woman who is fashion-wise is making one grand dash in the direction of the glamorous wool fabric sections, which is exactly what she should be doing to be smartly apparelled in the days to follow.

Among the woolens to meet the rapturous gaze of the woman in quest of modish materials for her fall costume are the most enticing jacquard-patterned weaves fancy could possibly picture. These are that new you will get all the thrills that come with having a forward look into fashion futures. In these jacquard wool weaves the patternings are woven right into the material. Then there are the cunningly embroidered woolens which promise to be quite the rage. These make up ever so smartly in tunics, and waistcoats. They come in pretty florals and bold coin dots and other clever motifs mostly wide-spaced but not infrequently all-over designed. As to wool plaids and stripes and checks their name is legion. The big idea right now is a gay plaid skirt with monotone blouse or sweater. The flaring plaid tunic is also outstanding in the new stylings. As to the fantastically nubbed tweeds that are so important this season, everyone who sees falls prey to their wiles at first glance.

Designers are playing up the new woolens for all they are worth, using them by the two's and three's in combinations that stress striking contrast both in color and weave. The costume made up of two or more woolens is the "hit" of the season.

Two of the three models in the picture make contrast their theme, in use of versatile woolens. The ensemble to the left can be worn from early fall to early spring in perfect comfort, with or without its matching coat. Here a plaid rabbit's woolen dress in pencil silhouette with a high surplice bodice and a bright velveteen ascot has a plain rabbit's hair tunic coat with double-breasted front and wide revers of the plaid. The new "swing" effect is achieved with unpressed box pleats that start from the waist.

To the right in the trio a striped rabbit's woolen plays a duet with a plain rabbit's wool weave. The dress in pencil silhouette has as complement a flared tunic coat of the plain wool with tuxedo fronts of the stripe. A bright velveteen ascot and belt buckle match the color in the stripes. The dress is ideal to wear under a separate winter coat later on.

Centered is a cape outfit of jacquard tweed. It is this sort of novelty woolens that is glorifying the fabric style picture just now. The raised shoulder line which is the much-talked-of new silhouette is carried out in sunray tucks. The long sleeved dress has a flared skirt. The popular stand-up collar adds a keen touch, also a patent leather belt to match the patent leather shoes.

NEW-STYLE BAGS

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Alert manufacturers of bags have set to work to devise distinctive openings, out of the ordinary, yet practical. Perfect with all sorts of tailored clothes, football togs and travel costumes is the new double-zippered transatlantic handbag (top picture) the unusual opening of which resembles a suitcase fastening and a roomy interior that provides ample space for anything from a passport and travel papers to a pocket-size novel. With a smart fall dress of nubby homespun as pictured below it is the very essence of good style to wear washable kid gloves matching the leather of an underarm bag.

ROSE DECORATIVE THEME FOR AUTUMN

Newest feature of this season's costume flowers is the American beauty rose. Singly, or in clusters, it is worn with full-length stem almost to the knee. The flower, flatteringly soft and graceful, is posed just below the shoulder.

The rose motif is also prominent on printed and blocked scarfs and in formal chiffon evening handkerchiefs. Rich evening brocades follow the romantic mode in large all-over rose or leaf designs. Rose patterns have all the old-world air so typical of the Victorian and Edwardian revivals that are dominating the fall modes.

Accents of rose on black are a leading theme for fall: copper-rose buckles, necklaces of rosy crystal, touches of lace in a faint blush-rose, nail polish in old rose with faintly smoke-blue undertone. Polish this autumn is going romantic, along with everything else. Soft shades of old rose, coral, mauve—or if you're wearing gold or autumn-leaf red, a new light rust polish—faintly echo the undertone of the gown or its accessories.

Knitted Reading Jackets

Those Swiss!

Hand-painted buttons, decorated in the Swiss peasant style, are now to be had, and are strongly advised for the ski suit.

Taupe Felt Models

Handsome Cloth Is Quickly Crocheted

Here's Fun for you—and Beauty for your dinner or tea table— in a lacy pattern which you can crochet so easily of string. It won't take you any time at all to learn the "sample" square design, on which all the others are based, and to crochet a goodly number of squares. When you've enough, join

A Little Bit Humorous

KNEW RIGHT SIZE

Wishing to make her father look smart when he gave her away at the altar, she got him to agree to wear a hat, London Tit-Bits relates.

The shepherd went to an outfitter's and asked for a hat.

"What size, please?" asked the assistant.

But the old man did not know.

"We'll try six-and-a-half first," suggested the assistant.

"Six-and-a-half be hanged," said the old chap. "I wear a 15 collar, and I know my head be bigger than my neck."

TIMELY REMEDY

"How's that summer cold of yours, Tom?"

"Oh, I got rid of it."

"What did you take?"

"A fresh one."

Fatherly Advice

"My boy," said the business man to his son, "there are two things that are vitally necessary if you are to succeed in business."

"What are they, dad?"

"Honesty and sagacity."

"What is honesty?"

"Always—no matter what happens, nor how adversely it may affect you—always keep your word once you have given it."

"And sagacity?"

"Never give it."—Santa Fe Magazine.

A Good Alibi

An inspector, while examining a class in school one day, asked, "Who drove the Israelites out of Egypt, you?" he said pointing to a small boy in the corner.

"No sir, 'twasn't me," replied the boy, trembling. "I only came back from the country last week!"—Knights of Columbus Bulletin.

Sufficient

"Have you a smoking car on this train?" the approaching passenger asked of the brakeman.

"Well, no, we did have one, but the conductor thought the engine was doing so well, that he took it off."—Portland Express.

YES MEN

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

LIKE you I've had a man or two
At times in my employ,
And, when they tried to please me, then
They would the most annoy.
With me they always would agree,
Agree with might and main;
Advice from them at any price
I never could obtain.

Like you I've wished a man or two
Would let their light so shine,
Suggest some way they thought was best,
Some way that wasn't mine.
No matter what I mentioned, that
Was just the very thing;
Right then that crew of chorus men
Would all arise and sing.

Like you I'd like a man or two
To say that I'm a mess.
Although I know I'm not, I know
I'm sick and tired of yes.
For now they never tell me how
My plan is not so good.
I'd hire (and very likely fire)
A few who only would.

Peter Rabbit Stories by Thornton W. Burgess

THE END OF JERRY'S SUSPICIONS.

JERRY MUSKRAT, caught by a leg between two roots struggled in vain to free himself. Some one was coming down the Laughing Brook. Jerry knew who it was. Yes, sir, Jerry knew who it was. It was Farmer Brown's Boy. Jerry knew by the whistle. You see, Farmer Brown's Boy is apt to whistle when he is happy.

The knowledge that it was Farmer Brown's Boy brought no relief to Jerry Muskrat. He was suspicious of every human being, and all because a stranger had first won Jerry's friendship and then set traps for him. Such an act is called treachery, and one who had once met with treachery is likely to be filled with suspicion for a long time afterward.

Nearer and nearer came Farmer Brown's Boy, and harder and harder Jerry struggled. But Jerry's struggles were in vain. Do what he would, he couldn't get that leg free. Suddenly he stopped struggling and lay perfectly still. In his heart was a faint, faint hope that Farmer Brown's Boy would not see him.

But Farmer Brown's Boy did see him. He stopped whistling. He stood still. Then a look of anger passed over his face. "I must have overlooked a trap," he muttered, "and that poor little chap has stepped in it. It's a lucky thing I came along just now. How I do hate traps! If a trapper could put himself in the place of one of his victims for even a few minutes I guess he would never set another trap."

Farmer Brown's Boy once more began to move toward Jerry, and as he did so he took off his coat. Jerry drew himself together to spring as best he could at Farmer Brown's Boy as soon as he was near enough. Jerry felt quite hopeless, but he intended to fight to the last.

The eyes of Farmer Brown's Boy twinkled for he understood just what Jerry intended to do. That was why he had taken off his coat.

"I've got a lot of respect for those big teeth of yours," thought he, and threw his coat right over Jerry. "Now," he added, "I guess I can get that trap off your leg without getting bitten."

He stooped to look for the trap, and then as he saw that it wasn't a trap that held Jerry he gave a little whistle of surprise. Out came his knife, and while Jerry struggled helplessly under the coat Farmer Brown's Boy began cutting one of the roots which held Jerry. In a couple of minutes that root was cut through.

Farmer Brown's Boy snatched up his coat and stepped back. Jerry was free. He could hardly believe it, but it was so. He didn't stop to thank Farmer Brown's Boy, but scurried away for home as fast as he could go. Once there, he began to think things over and all his suspicions of Farmer Brown's Boy vanished. He knew now that Farmer Brown's Boy was really his friend.

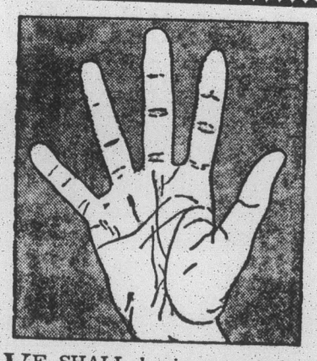
THE LANGUAGE OF YOUR HAND

By Leicester K. Davis

© Public Ledger, Inc.



WE SHALL begin our study of the language of the hand by consideration of fundamental elements. It is important that these be thoroughly mastered before progressing to the more complicated meanings of line and mounts within the palm. Study of hands by type is the first step toward proficiency in this age-old and fascinating science of character delineation.

The shape and structure of the hand instantly places it within one of seven classifications. Each type may be relied upon as a definite index of the possessor's major traits and tendencies.

The seven types are:

First. The Primal Type, the hand of the materially minded.

Second. The Square Type, the hand of the doer of worth-while things.

Third. The Mental Type, the hand of the brain worker and philosopher.

Fourth. The Temperamental Type, the hand of the born actor, artist, poet or musician.

Sixth. The Spiritual Type, the hand of the man or woman who lives on a high idealistic plane.

Seventh. The Intermingled Type, which partakes of several or all of the qualities found in the types just given, as illustrated above.

Fix these classifications and the qualities represented by each firmly in mind. These lessons which follow will describe the elements by which each type may be quickly recognized.

Heat in Moon's Rays

Moonlight is reflected light from the sun. Rays of the sun falling on the moon set up heat there, which is immediately radiated away into space, because the moon has no atmosphere to hold the heat on its surface. The reflected light reaching the earth as moonlight does set up some heat on the earth, but the amount is so small that it can only be detected by delicate instruments.

MOTHER'S COOK BOOK

FINE DINNER DISHES

THERE is no dinner dish that is more popular, if we except chicken, than ham.

Fig Cake.

Beat three egg whites with one-half cupful of sugar and add a teaspoonful of vanilla. Beat three egg yolks with one-half cupful of sugar, the grated rind of an orange, a teaspoonful of baking powder sifted twice with a cupful of flour, add three tablespoonfuls of orange juice and fold in the egg mixture. Melt four tablespoonfuls of butter in a cakepan, add one-half cupful of brown sugar, one cupful of chopped figs and a sprinkling of broken pecans. Pour over this the cake mixture and bake twenty minutes in a moderate oven. When done turn upside down and serve with whipped cream. Stewed apricots, canned pineapple or any fruit desired may be used for this delicious cake dessert.

Baked Ham.

Soak a ham over night. In the morning put it into a kettle with one onion, one carrot, six pepper corns, one bay leaf, six cloves and water to cover. Simmer for three or four hours until tender. Remove the skin and stick with whole cloves; bake in a roasting pan basting with the ham liquor and cider, using half of each. When the ham is well done stir some brown sugar into the cider sauce and spread all over the ham and brown. Serve hot with the liquor from the pan for sauce.

Deviled Lobster.

Cook three tablespoonfuls of onion, one tablespoonful of green pepper, three tablespoonfuls of butter very slowly until tender. Add one and one-half cupfuls of lobster meat and sprinkle with two tablespoonfuls of flour, one teaspoonful each of mustard, salt and paprika to taste, with a teaspoonful of worcestershire sauce and a cupful of cream. Cook a minute or two. Place in ramekins or shells and bake well covered with buttered crumbs.

For President
FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

President Roosevelt's Courage.

(By JOHN G. THOMSON in San Diego Herald)

During the World War all sorts of phrases and slogans were coined for our encouragement, and a perfect plague of prophets, minor and minimus, foretold splendid days to come for those who would persevere a little longer in killing—or being killed.

One prophecy, however, has certainly come true. The man who, in 1917, announced that we were "engaged in creating a world fit for heroes to live in," scored a "bull's-eye" on the target—but not the one he aimed at.

Undoubtedly our present world is eminently fit for heroes, since nobody except the heroic can hope to keep going for long. The present-day world is no place for men and women who have lost or mislaid their courage.

Perhaps in every age Man has thought his generation more badly used than any other. We fancy, however, that our rough and rugged forefathers had much more to put up with than their descendants of today, but to us it often seems as if the trials of the present time are up to the very limits of human endurance.

Courage is now our supreme need, for without it we cannot stay in the race. In the heart of each of us there's both a hero and a coward, and what matters first and last is that the hero should triumph over the coward. That very gospel—a gospel of faith and courage—has been declared time and time again by Franklin D. Roosevelt—by his own words and by his own actions. His example has encouraged others. Not only that, but in a very material way he has been instrumental in helping millions of his fellow-countrymen to battle on courageously, after even hope itself had fled.

There is a patriotism of time as well as of country, and every fearless thinker owes his generation the courage of his own faith and conviction. Franklin D. Roosevelt has the supreme courage of his own faith and convictions. He is fearless and original in his thinking. His moral and physical courage is apparent to us all.

And so far as all of us, his countrymen and countrywomen, are concerned, in this matter of courage the one essential—the one decisive factor—is the question of our vitality, for according to our vitality shall we win through with credit.

To any teacher who can give us life, we should be eternally in debt. Franklin D. Roosevelt is teaching us how to have faith in ourselves and to have the courage of our own convictions. We should be forever indebted to him.

October is called the month of "frost-painted leaves." Now, this is both a truth and a misnomer—in Southern California. Those in the cold confines expect frosts in October, "when the frost is on the pun'kins;" but out in the great Southland, October is known as the golden month. A time when harvest and abundance bring unnumbered fascinations to nature lovers. October is also known as "shooting days" and every sportsman has a feeling that stirs his whole being with an unexplained longing to get away. October marks autumn in truth, with its quick transition from the green foliage to the crisp, cool and snappy mornings. All seasons in California are one perfect blending of climate, sunshine and a fellowship with nature. A love for hotcakes for breakfast and a venturesome spirit that creeps into the blood.

That person who has learned, whatsoever his outward experience or circumstances may result, to be content, is a mighty possession of great wealth. It has proven that even a safe bank account is not altogther life's great anchorage, but that there is something behind it all—unspeakable riches that mammon has no compare. "Contentment is great gain," through a condition of wisdom, creating cheerfulness and as the poet says, "an open and noble temper." Contentment is easier earned than gold or the purse and should be the supreme passion of life. Contentment means freedom from anything that wearies or troubles—peace of mind. It is not from work that always kills but worry. To be free from labor is not contentment, nor rest. Wisdom is found in Holme's new lines, "I only ask that fortune send a little more than I can spend." Wealth is often sought for its power, yet in the hand of a miser the riches of all this world would be useless and helpless.

Here is a brilliant humane move that should be not only food for the stomach, but food for thought. A great cereal manufacturer, known the world over, has been experimenting with his army of help in his establishment, and his latest venture is to raise wages 12.5 per cent on a six-hour day. He was first to inaugurate the short day five years ago, because he believed it would spread employment. Now, he comes out with the conviction that if generally adopted it would increase employment 20 per cent. He also believes that "nothing is too bad to be incurable, too good to be hoped for; nothing too high to be attempted; nothing so precious that we cannot afford to give away." In adopting the wage plan as a permanent policy and raising wages the new scale provides $27 minimum for a 36-hour week, highest in ths company's history. The manufacturer tells of the fine fruits of shorter hours: Efficiency and morale are increased, sickness and accident rates are improved, unit cost of production is lowered, and the six-hour return is better than the eight-hour return used to be. "Next to excellence is the appreciation of it!"

EXPOSED!

A New Scheme to Raise Prices by Taxation

You would pay for the cleverly-disguised "Retail Store License"...in higher prices for foods and other necessities of life.

DON'T be fooled by Proposition #22 on your November ballot.

By name, it is made to sound like a simple store license. Actually, the public, as usual, will bear the whole burden—through the higher prices you will pay.

The measure proposes this: Charge individual stores $1.00 a year for the right to do business. But tax chain stores $500.00 for each store, over nine.

The "joker" in such taxes is exposed by the U. S. Federal Trade Commission, which says:

"If the ability to undersell, based on greater efficiency or on elimination of credit and delivery cost, is destroyed by taxation, it is the consuming public which will really pay the tax and not the chain."

Why? Because chain stores operate on a small profit. They eliminate middlemen's profits and unnecessary in-between expenses. The savings they make are passed on to you in prices 10% below the average. The Harvard (University) Bureau of Business Research states these to be the facts.

Thus four out of five chain stores do not make enough profit to cover the tax. They must raise prices. And that means you will pay.

Some chains will be forced to close. Their competition gone, other stores will be free to boost their charges. And that means you will pay.

The tax is admittedly not for revenue purposes. It is a scheme to raise prices by taxation—to subsidize wasteful business methods at your expense.

If you agree that chain store competition helps to keep all prices reasonable—if you agree that taxes on foods and necessities are already high enough —vote NO and keep prices low.

For, stripped of its misleading name and its involved wording...22 is a tax on you—VOTE NO!

22 IS A TAX ON YOU—VOTE NO!

22	RETAIL STORE LICENSE Referendum against act of Legislature (Chapter 849, Statutes 1935) requiring every person or organization owning, operating or controlling one or more stores, wherein merchandise is sold at retail, obtain annual State license; prescribing fifty cents application fee for each store and one dollar license fee for one store, increasing license fee progressively for second and additional stores to five hundred dollars for each store over nine; excepts filling stations, ice distributing establishments, restaurant facilities of common carriers, newspaper offices, stores wherein sales are incidental to rendering personal service, theatres and motion picture houses. She has added to her staff the well known hair stylist, "Scott" Watkins, recently of the Crocker Beauty studio, Mission Beach and formerly of the Mayflower Beauty salon in San Diego. Scott has been following the policy of personality and efficiency for 10 years with great success. Recently he returned from a three months course of study with leading artists in advanced hair styles in Hollywood, San Francisco and other large cities.

Increasing business necessitated the addition to the Salon which is now arranged on spacious lines. It suggests leisure and comport to our patrons. This Salon is now equipped with the most approved methods in beauty aids for women. Appealing to the most fastidious tastes of this progressive community.

Also included on the staff is a very efficient feminine operator, Beatrice Macias, who is an expert in all lines of beauty service.

Scott and Beatrice would be very glad to meet their patrons and friends at Pauline's Beauty salon, 3729 Mission Blvd. Mission Beach which is open evenings by appointment.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The question, "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" is the subject of the Lesson-Serman on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. The Golden Text is from James: "Resist the devil, and he will flee from you. Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you."

Among the Bible selections in the Lesson-Sermon are these words of Paul to the Corinthians: "We are troubled on every side, but not distressed; we are perplexed, yet not in despair; . . . for our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory; while we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen: for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal."

The Lesson-Sermon includes also these passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, "We must look deep into realism instead of accepting only the outward sense of things." "Realize that the evidence of the senses is not to be accepted in the case of sickness, any more than it is in the case of sin."

Warren-Walker School

The Warren-Walker school is pleased to announce the addition of a new pupil, Jamie Junior. Jamie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Willis who have just arrived from Annapolis, Maryland. They are now making their home in Ocean Beach.

The school is glad to report the recovery and return of Jack Storey.

Several gardens have been started by the Warren-Walker students. Judy Pinney planted a surprise package of seeds and we are looking forward to seeing the contents of the package in bloom. Jean Pope has the same garden plot which she had last year and has added a supply of stocks. Shefrah Rozenstain and Donald Smylie have completed the digging of the ground for their gardens to be.

The swimming class is happy to have Tony Snedicor as a new member. The school, with the exception of the very small members, visited a newspaper plant, Thursday afternoon to see how newspapers are actually made.

The Warren-Walker school pupils have been having an especially interesting series of nature study lessons. This project has been taught by Everett Lockhart and has met with an enthusiastic response.

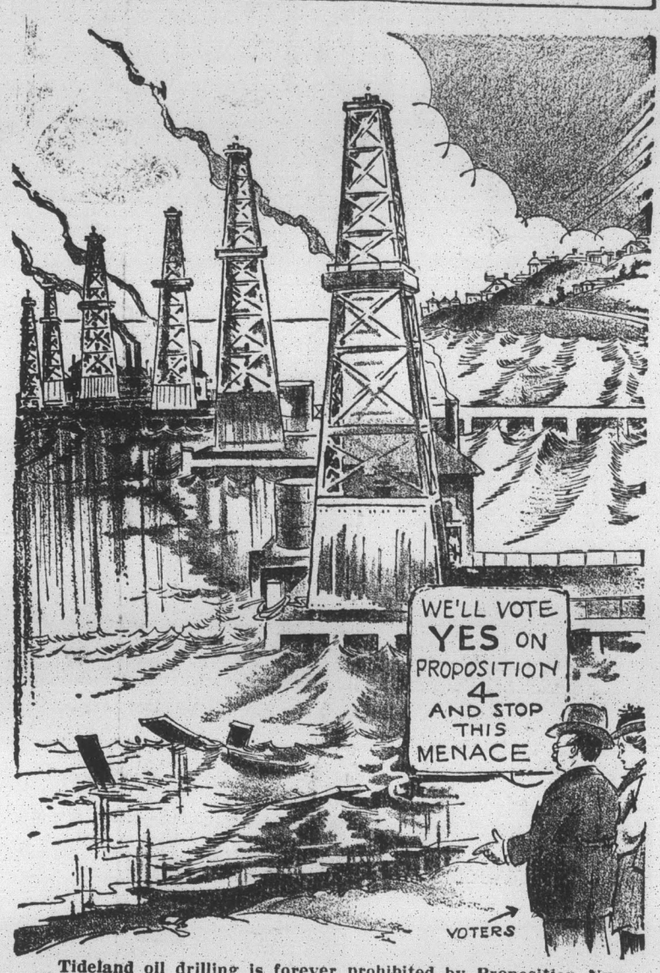
Tideland Drilling Must End



Tideland oil drilling is forever prohibited by Proposition Number 4 appearing on the ballot in the general election November 3. Endorsed by civic organizations, and press throughout the state, the measure protects the beaches and at the same time enables the state to secure revenue from its oil resources.

Efforts to secure permits to drill in the tidelands have been repeatedly made in the past years in California. Proposition Number 4 ends tideland drilling by making it impossible to gain a permit for such drilling without a majority vote of the people.

It is estimated that the state will receive $2,000,000 a year through orderly development of state oil resources by slant drilling authorized by Proposition Number 4. One half is to go into the general fund for tax reduction and the other half to build up a notable system of state-owned beaches and parks without cost to the taxpayers.

Missionary To South India Will Tell About Hill Tribes

One of the 400 white men living among 6,000,000 natives, the Rev. M. L. Wyneken, for the past eight years a missionary to the primitive hill tribes of Travancore, South India, will be the guest speaker on Sunday, Oct. 11, of the Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran congregation, preaching the sermon at the Kunz Memorial chapel, Sunset Cliffs blvd. and Cape May ave. at 10:45 a. m. He will also address a few words to the Sunday school children concerning the children under his care in India. The Sunday school sessions begin at 9:30 a. m.

Beautifully colored slides made from the pictures taken by missionary Wyneken himself while in India will illustrate his lecture entitled: "The Human Side of Missions." to be given during the Bible hour, beginning at 7:30 p. m. in the chapel dealing primarily with the customs and religious beliefs of these primitive hill tribes and their devil-worshiping practices. As an added feature a large exhibit of unique and odd articles will be displayed and explained, including manuscripts more than 400 years old, written on palm leaves, queer musical instruments, paraphernalia of the witch-doctors and devil-worshippers, beautiful carvings in wood and ivory, elephant hair, and the like. The Rev. Martin Lankow, pastor at the Kunz Memorial chapel says: "This lecture which promises to be entertaining as well as instructive will be of interest to the general public which is invited to attend both the morning service and the evening Bible hour illustrated lecture."

THE THEOSOPHICAL SOCIETY; POINT LOMA

"The Problem of Good and Evil" will be considered next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Temple of Peace, Theosophical headquarters Point Loma. Abbott C. Clark will present the subject in an address to precede an open forum discussion by the audience.

Through his wide experience as lecturer and associate of Katherine Tingley in her humanitarian endeavors Mr. Clark is ably fitted to present such a subject as "The Problem of Good and Evil." A member of the Theosophical society for over forty years the lecturer was a young man dedicated his life to the service of mankind. His unshakable belief in the brotherhood of man led him to present himself as a lecturer for a number of years to prison convicts before he became a staff member of the Theosophical international headquarters located at Point Loma.

The problem of good and evil is one which has caused much divergence of opinion, thinks Mr. Clark. 'What one person thinks is 'good' is considered positively evil by another. Theosophy has much to say about this problem, much light to throw upon it." A forum dicussion will follow the address when the audience will be invited to participate in questions and contributions relative to the subject. All are invited.

BAPTIST CHURCH SERVICES

Rev. W. S. Dunn will speak next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock on the subject "Christian Liberty." The choir will sing the anthem "Go to the House of the Lord."

The young people's group will meet at 6:30 p. m. There will be a service of song at 7:30 p. m. and the pastor's sermon subject will be "Things That Are God's."

Point Loma High School News

The A.S.B. drive, just ended at Point Loma High school won the support of more than half of the students. About six hundred dollars was netted from the sale of tickets.

The senior high section of the school supported the drive better than the junior group, in spite of the fact that the tickets were higher for the upper classmen.

Prizes were given to the home rooms first reaching 100 per cent membership; the one gaining the highest percentage. Frst prize was won by coach Lawrence Purdy's senior A home room, first group to reach the 100 percent goal. However coach W. J. Beerkle's L8's came through with the highest percentage —over the 100 mark. Miss Irma Gibson's 1-12 won a second prize for reaching 100 percent.

Alumni of Point Loma high school will hold a homecoming affair in connection with the Grossmont game, next Friday, Oct. 16. Alumni are urged to save the afternoon and evening for a get-to-gether at the high school. Plans are being made by the executive committee of the alumni association for a big celebration, including a dance in the evening.

Officers of the Alumni association are: President, Lowell Fowler; vice president, Willis Doetchman; secretary, Elsie Conover and treasurer Harry Woodward. Fowler can be reached at H2143M for reservations or information on the plans for the evening.

The rally dance with the Holtville team as guests of honor was well attended. An orchestra composed of a group of San Diego high school players furnished the music for the dancing. The hall was attractively decorated in the Point Loma colors maroon and gold. To Howard McCoy and his assistants goes much credit for the tasteful arrangement of the decorations.

Lucien Atherton, new faculty member at Point Loma is the faculty sponsor for the hospitality committee which is headed by Betty Jean Blevins. A number of the faculty were present at the dance. Clarence R. Swenson, principal; Robert D. Williams, vice principal; W. J. Beerkle; coach L. W. Purdy; Mrs. Stivers and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Smith of the Holtville faculty.

Bearing out pre-season forecasts as to power and ability, the Point Loma High school football team opened its 1936 season with a decisive 20-0 victory over the strong Holtville High team at Ross field, last Friday. The Lomans displayed a strong defense and a good, diversified offense; however, rough spots were apparent on various occasions.

The two teams battled scoreless until about the middle of the second quarter, when, after a march to the Holtville 1 yard line, Jed Lutes, powerful fullback, plunged over for the Pointers.

The second tally came in the fourth period when the valley boys were forced to kick from behind their own goal. Diaz, Loman tackle, broke thru to block the kick, and Abel, the other tackle, recovered. A few minutes later Lutes scored again, intercepting a pass and galloping 20 yards to pay dirt.

Today, Friday, the Point Loma High school gridders travel to Sweetwater High to encounter the Red Devils in their first Metropolitan league game. This game gives promise to be one of the toughest of the season for the Lomans. The fighting Lomans will probably win; but win or lose, a splendid battle is assured.

Yell leaders, Ward Kinnings, Chuck Rotzler and Dorian Paskowitz, flashed before student rooting section in some brand new cheer leader's costumes. They carry out the school colors, maroon and gold. If the snap of these costumes and the boys' pep doesn't stir rooters to bigger and better efforts, nothing will. A band is being trained to play at football games.

Mr. Janowsky, director, plans to have string music for the football season.

Having been given the use of a loud speaker sound truck through the courtesy of Bert Schneider, with the Campbell Chevrolet Co., students will hear a full account of the game as well as any announcements.

New spirit and enthusiasm was shown at the game Friday, as a result of all the new facilities for enjoying and rooting for the game.

The bleachers have been painted dark green to cut down the glare at the games and incidentally to preserve the wood.

Pt. Loma plays Sweetwater at Sweetwater, Friday. Many students plan to attend the game. They have secured permits signed by parents.

R. O. T. C.

Some of these people who write their opinions about the R.O.T.C. bugler ought to try doing some bugling themeselves. Also the person who wrote the article in the last Ponter, on patriotism, ought to talk to the football men.

Our football men who can go out on the football field and take a beating and risk a chance of breaking bones seem to be afraid of the poorly made remarks about standing up and showing their patriotism to their flag.

The whole school barring a few intelligent people of the school, are altogether too ready to criticize the R.O.T.C. without knowing why we take the subject.

At the beginning of the semester there were a few advancements made.

Sergeant Allen was promoted to 2nd Lieut. Sergeant Hage was promoted to 1st sergeant, corporals Melson, Rockwell and Pvt. Williams to sergeant; Pvt. Ingram, Lindstrom and Hacker to corporal. There also was a number of warrants for Pvt. first class renewed. 1st Lieut. Allen was given a stiff test which he passed with flying colors. He was then assigned to be a battalion staff officer.

Money Destroyed

When Uncle Sam's paper money becomes worn and badly soiled it is returned to the Treasury where it is destroyed and bright, new bills issued in its place. If all denominations were thoroughly mixed together before being tossed in the macerator each ton of money destroyed would contain approximately 590,000 one-dollar bills, 190,000 fives, 130,000 tens, 60,000 twenties, 20,000 twos and no more than 10,000 fifties and higher denominations, which proves that the larger denominations do not wear out so quickly. The twenties, fifties and larger denominations do not circulate with nearly as much velocity as the ones, fives and even the tens.—Pathfinder Magazine.

LARGE PERCENTAGE OF FARM HOMES ARE UNDERLIGHTED

Sensational discoveries have been recently made by electrical research engineers about the saving of eyesight through better electric lighting. Their researches have caused rapid changes to be made in electric lighting facilities throughout the country. People are beginning to realize the value of priceless eyesight. The rising tide of eye trouble will no doubt decrease in the next few years.

But what's going to protect the vision of the people living in the 5,000,000 American farm homes without electricity? A large percentage of those homes are underlighted, according to results shown by new "light meters," which register the amount of illumination at any given point. What about that?

Manufacturers of high candlepower kerosene and gasoline pressure mantle lamps are doing for non-electric users what electrical engineers have done for the users of electricity. Some of the new kerosene and gasoline pressure mantle lamps produce from four to twenty times more light than ordinary types. Burning 96 per cent air and 4 per cent fuel, they give "live," crystal-clear brilliance — proved nearest like daylight of any artificial light, by scientific laboratory tests.

Gunlock Ranch

By FRANK H. SPEARMAN

COPYRIGHT FRANK H. SPEARMAN W.N.U. SERVICE

SYNOPSIS

Sleepy Cat, desert town of the Southwest, is celebrating the Fourth of July. Jane Van Tambel, beautiful daughter of Gus Van Tambel, hated owner of Gunlock ranch, has arrived from the East for the first time. She watches the Frontier Day celebration in company with Dr. Carpy, crusty, tender-hearted friend of the community. Henry Sawdy of the Circle Dot ranch, tricked in a fake horse race the day before by Dave McCrossen, foreman at Gunlock, plans revenge. He enters Bill Denison, a handsome young Texas wrangler, in the rodeo which McCrossen is favored to win, and lays heavy bets on him. Unknown to the crowd, Denison is a champion horseman. McCrossen and the young stranger tie in the various events. Denison then drops a cigarette carelessly. Racing down the track full tilt, he picks up the cigarette. The verdict goes to Denison when McCrossen refuses to attempt the stunt. Entreated by the crowd, Denison agrees to perform another trick. Jane Van Tambel is asked for her bracelet and throws it on the track. Just as Denison rides to pick it up a yell from Barney Rebstock, a McCrossen henchman, scares the pony, nearly costing the rider his life. Gun play is prevented by the intervention of Dr. Carpy. Back on Gunlock ranch after two years in Chicago, because of her father's illness, Jane gets lost riding in the hills and meets Denison, now a neighbor, who guides her home. Not knowing her identity, he speaks bitterly of Van Tambel. She tells McCrossen who brought her home and he denounces Denison as a cattle thief. Later she asks Dr. Carpy why her father is unpopular and he tells her it is because of Van Tambel's ruthless and unscrupulous character. Visiting her father in the hospital, Jane is warned to be wary of McCrossen's honesty, but her father urges her to be nice to him. Later McCrossen tries to woo her, but is sharply rebuffed. Once again Jane loses her way in the hills and meets Denison.

"Did you like circus work?" she asked offhand.

"Can't say I did. I never worked in a circus except that one season. It was only because I needed money bad, and it was big money to me. Then the lawyers got it all. Here's the fork for Gunlock Ranch."

He pointed. They were at the parting of their ways. A saucy impulse seized Jane. She was given to impulses and to doing whatever thing flashed into her head. She checked her horse, lifted her forearm, and unclasped the bracelet. "Since you've been so kind—"

The man had halted his horse. "Nothing at all!" he protested.

"—I'd like you," she went on, paying no attention to his disclaimer, "to have a souvenir—this bracelet." She held it out to him. He looked flabbergasted. "For what?" he stammered.

His embarrassment seemed to communicate itself to Jane—she could not have told why. "I'm grateful for your putting me on my way today, and that other night when I got lost, if you remember," she went on.

He swallowed. She was secretly delighted with his confusion. "Well, that certainly is mighty kind," he said haltingly. "But I couldn't accept such a beautiful thing for doing nothing at all."

"I've got lots of bracelets."

"But sometime I've got to find something I can really do for you."

She laid the bracelet in his outstretched hand.

"I certainly thank you a thousand times." His slow response left no doubt of what he felt. Her aim now was to escape his protestations. He put on his hat. She started to go.

"Please!" he exclaimed, raising his hand. She stopped. Her guide's brow ruffled a little in perplexity.

"What is it?" she asked, superciliously impatient.

He took his hat off again. "Would it be polite," he ventured, "to ask your name?"

"Tell me yours again," she said.

"Bill Denison."

She allowed her horse to turn into the ranch trail. Denison sat motionless, hat in hand, but looking directly at her. "You haven't told me your name yet," he remonstrated quietly.

"Oh! It's Marie. Good-bye!"

Not till after she had parted from Denison and was riding alone with her thoughts did Jane begin to feel really frightened. This was the man of whom she had heard lurid tales of rustling, an enemy of her father's, near-outlaw generally—Bill Denison.

She drew a long breath, thinking over her encounter with the redoubtable Bill; what she had said to him and how she had said it; what he had said to her and how he had said it; recalling his general appearance, his easy manner in the saddle, his peaceable features, and at last his brown eyes. As she drew near the ranch house, she resolutely dismissed him from her mind, or thought she did.

She was as hungry as a bear—but to all questioners she merely explained that she had taken a long ride over on the Reservation.

"Who was the man that brought you home?" asked McCrossen.

"Why, nobody."

So she had been discovered. No matter. "Oh, that man!" she exclaimed, tossing her head. "He was just somebody from the Reservation, going to Sleepy Cat."

In the meantime her rebuffs had not shaken the constancy of her foreman admirer, McCrossen. He made continued appeal for her favor—so marked once in a while as to make her angry. She could hardly get away from him, but his conversations, his suggestions, and his persistence got on Jane's nerves.

Whenever McCrossen was going to ride over the ranch, Jane was not so riding. When he was riding to town, Jane was riding over the ranch. In fact, chiefly to be rid of him, Jane spent much time in the saddle. And she developed a particular liking for the hill trail to town; she usually rode that way, either coming or going. What impressed itself on her was that riding the hill road alone was not quite so exciting as the first time she had ridden it with a guide. But what had become of her guide?

She controlled her impatience until she could do so no longer. Starting one day to town with Bull Page, Jane asked discreetly about their neighbor, this man Bill Denison. She had heard so much about him that she'd begun to wonder what he looked like!

"Why, Miss Jane," answered Bull, "'cordin' to what I hear, Bill's been down to Medicine Bend on his lawsuit."

"But why need a man go down to Medicine Bend for a lawsuit, when there are courts in Sleepy Cat?"

"Well, this is before the U. S. Land Office; that's different." Suddenly Bull,

"Who Was the Man That Brought You Home?" Asked McCrossen.

peering down the trail, straightened up. "Why, there's Bill, right now, on his way to town. The critter's back."

"Where is he? Oh, I see. The man that just rode around the bend?" Jane did some fast and bold thinking. She looked in her purse. "Bull!" she exclaimed in fancied alarm, "I've forgotten to bring Quong's grocery list for the kitchen. I'm afraid you'll have to ride back after it."

She was soon within speaking distance of the horseman ahead. Overtaking him, she slackened her pace.

"Good-morning," she said stiffly.

Denison looked around, checked his horse, touched his hat, and returned the greeting. But he was plainly confused, and Jane was correspondingly pleased. "We meet again," she said with a superior air. "And this time I'm not lost."

"I'm afraid I am, this time," he said slowly.

"How so?"

"Well, it happened I was just thinking about the other times we met, and wondering whether I'd ever see you again, when you dropped down out of the sky on me just now. It took my breath. On your way to town? So am I. Do you mind if I ride along with you?"

"I might mind if you didn't. In fact, if you don't mind a confession, I hurried a little to catch up. You were so kind before—"

"Nothing at all—"

"—and you gave me such good advice that I haven't been lost since. But I do feel safer, riding with company. So thank you again—if you're not terribly tired of being thanked."

"Just as much as you like, if you'll remember you're thanking me for nothing. I was afraid you'd gone back to Chicago."

"Where have you been all this time? I certainly couldn't have missed you if you ride this trail as often as I do."

"I've been away—down at Medicine Bend. How long is it since that day?"

"Oh, I haven't an idea. It was an awfully hot day, as I remember. Wasn't it?"

"I can't remember a thing about the weather. If I measured the time by my feelings, it would be about three years.

"How perfectly ridiculous!" pouted Jane.

"What I was afraid of was, you'd gone back to Chicago and I'd never see you again. Then I figured that if you went back to Chicago, I'd look there next winter for a circus job and try to get into the same show with you."

She looked at him, frankly amused. "Now wasn't that nice of you? Really, Mr. Denison, you make me perfectly ashamed of myself. Will you get mad now if I confess again? No, you mustn't. I just won't have it. But—I was kidding about being a circus rider. It was some of our crazy cowboys started that."

He repressed a smile. She saw it. "What amused you?" she asked.

"Nothing at all."

"Oh, yes it was. What?"

"You won't get mad?"

"Oh," she responded airily, "I never get mad."

"Well, I knew you were kidding because that time you rode up to Spring Ranch, I happened to see you come down the valley. It was after I'd heard these stories about circus riding. I said to myself, 'If that young lady ever rode in a circus, they'd have to tie her on.'"

Jane didn't like it—no girl could. But it gave her precisely the opening she wanted. "Now," she said with an attempted laugh, "it's my turn, and I hope you won't get mad."

"Try me—nothing'd make me mad."

Then, "You mustn't hate me because I am not someone you might have thought I was. I am Jane Van Tambel. My name is Jane—not Marie. I know you and Father haven't got along . . ."

They were jogging on, side by side. Then he looked over at her with an expression she had not before seen in a man's eyes. "I certainly won't ever hate you," he said very slowly. "I just—couldn't."

CHAPTER V

Two days passed. Jane ordered up her pony. "What's takin' you into town today?" asked McCrossen suspiciously.

Bull came up wth the pony. Jane tossed the question: "I forget some errands the other day. I shan't be gone long."

"Who's goin' with you?"

"No one. The boys are busy. I don't need the wagon today."

She had ridden some two miles toward town, when a turn in the trail brought in sight a man riding out of the woods. He checked his horse and waited for Jane. His face was expectant.

Jane's cheeks flushed in spite of herself. "I hope I haven't kept you waiting long," she stammered. He smiled and shook his head as if perfectly satisfied. "I came early," he confessed. "But I'd have hung around all night for this and not thought it long. Are we going up in the hills?"

"Not today. We—at least I—am going into town." Jane had private feelings of reserve about riding into the hills with Bill Denison. "In the hills we might get lost," she suggested, naively.

"I might; but not in the way you mean. I'm lost right now. I've been lost for two days. Something came into my life two days ago that I hope will keep me dreaming the rest of my life."

"Don't talk nonsense."

"You don't dare ask what I was dreaming about?"

"Was it about another dreamer?"

"It was."

"I know who, then." He looked at her with pathetic hope. "It was about McCrossen," she added heartlessly.

"Never! It was—"

"Let's gallop," she exclaimed, cutting him squarely off. "I feel just like riding fast. I can beat you to that big pine!"

When she pulled up after a brisk run, her face was flushed, her eyes dancing, her lips parted in laughter. Denison was just behind her. "Why, you didn't race at all," she complained, looking around at him. "Why didn't you try to pass me instead of sticking at my heels all the time?"

"If I passed you, how in the world could I see you? I wish it was fifty miles more to Sleepy Cat—don't you?"

"No."

"Well, don't you wish it was just a few miles farther?"

"No."

"Not even two miles?"

"No."

"Well, one mile then?"

"Well. Maybe a mile."

"Say two."

"What a persistent tease! Well—two, then. And no more."

"We could make it two by riding a little farther into the hills."

"You might ride up that way by yourself."

"I'm just a groom. I have to follow my mistress."

"Oh, no! We mustn't ride into town together. You gallop ahead."

Jane lunched that day at Dr. Carpy's hotel, hoping she might see Carpy himself. Fortune favored her. The doctor was in the office when she came.

"By the way, Doctor," she said, "I rode into town, part of the way, this morning with a neighbor of ours who doesn't bear a very favorable reputation at Gunlock, but—"

"What's his name?"

"Bill Denison."

OF INTEREST TO THE HOUSEWIFE

If the neck of a bottle is broken when opening, tie a pad of absorbent cotton over the top of another bottle and pour contents of broken bottle through it. Cotton will catch pieces of glass as liquid is poured through.

* * *

Marks on painted walls which have been caused by carelessly striking matches on them will disappear if rubbed first with the cut surface of a lemon, then with a clean cloth dipped in whiting. Afterward wash the surface with warm water and soap, and then quickly wipe with a clean cloth wrung out of clear water.

* * *

Hard cooked eggs, sliced, are made a tasty dish when added to a thickened tomato sauce and the whole sprinkled with cheese and baked 20 minutes. This is good for evening refreshments or Sunday supper on a rainy night.

* * *

Seven drops of lemon juice added to a pint of cream before whipping it will cause it to beat up in less than half the time it would without the juice.

* * *

Before putting away garden tools for the winter, clean them off, rub with kerosene or grease and store in a dry place.

When buying fish see that the eyes are not sunken in and dull. A fresh fish has clear eyes and the flesh is firm to the touch.

Passenger Pigeon

Every species or subdivision of a species of domestic pigeon to be found in our country today had its origin in some European or Asiatic country, according to an authority in the Rural New-Yorker. North America, did, however, have a truly representative American pigeon, the Passenger pigeon, a wild pigeon whose natural habitat was the entire continent. This particular American bird would be with us today, had it not been for the unmerciful slaughter of it by those whose only thought was the making of "easy money," which brought about its extinction.

SUPT. HELPING HAND HOME AT KIWANIS LUNCHEON

I. J. Caspill was chairman of the day at Wednesday's Kiwanis luncheon, introducing Coach W. J. Beerkle, of Point Loma high school, prospective member in the club.

The speaker was Mrs. L. E. Mac Lellan, superintendent of the Helping Hand Home, who stated that San Diego Kiwanis club had been a sponsor and faithful friend of that institution from its beginning. She said that this Home was not an orphan's home but that most of their cases came from broken homes and destitute families. The institution's capacity is forty children, though they now had 58, and the average for the year was 35. Of school age there are 32 and at present for this number they have four teachers who instruct in shop and art work as well. The Home is financed 50 per cent by the Community Chest, some from parents who can pay, and the balance from donations. In the welfare department the cost is $30 per month per child and in the hospital department $45 per month.

Most of the medical and dental care for the children in the Home is furnished by Kiwanis physicians and dentists who make no charge for their services.

During the past year 68,200 odd meals were served the children and the crippled children's pool, for therapeutic treatments is a part of the institution.

Carl Heilbron, active in helping Mrs. Anna E. Dodson in the establishment of the Helping Hand Home, spoke of its inception by this great hearted woman who was tireless in her efforts 25 to 30 years ago in caring for San Diego's poor and friendless kiddies. He was most sincere in his tribute to this mother of the motherless and her belief in the sure answers to her prayers for assistance.

Mr. Duncan of San Diego was a visitor.

The following were elected directors for 1937: James Hughes, Ivy W. Parks, Myron Insko, James H. McKinney, Griffith Lloyd, Dr. Wilhoit, Jack Massey and Heber H. Hartvigsen.

The annual picnic of the Illinois society will be held in the Pepper Grove, Balboa park, on Sunday, October 11. Everyone interested invited.

Charles Ludlow, 4470 Narragansett avenue, and Charles Woodward, 3667 Quimby, Friday night of last week crashed together with their autos at corner of Voltaire and Froude streets. Neither party was injured, it is reported, but autos were badly wrecked.

Mrs. S. J. McCutcheon of 2209 Etiwanda St., entertained at a luncheon bridge Friday afternoon in honor of her niece, Miss Mary E. Karshner, Cleveland, Ohio. High score was awarded to Mrs. Geo. Morin and low score to Mrs. Robert Kuper.

MRS JOHNSTON ADDING TO COTTAGES ON MUIR AVE

Mrs. Mary A. Johnston, 5076 Muir avenue, who already has two cottages and her own dwelling, is now making improvements of considerable consequence. The addition now under construction will include two modern frame-stucco cottages, to be furnished, and four garages for the convenience of her tenants.

SWIM CLUB NEWS

Last Tuesday night at the Ocean Beach American Legion-Silver Spray swim club there was a further increase in membership which proves to us we have sponsored the right kind of project for this year's community betterment activity and we feel that enough cannot be done in this line. It is our belief that no one can swim so well that they cannot learn a little better. The sport alone in the water once a week is well worth while and the benefit to the health, worth many times the small price of membership.

Now for the big news about the great big free entertainment and swim day at the Silver Spray pool, on Saturday, Oct. 17 beginning at 1 o'clock the pool will be thrown open to the public with the entire use of all facilities Free. In addition there will be entertainment at intervals and life saving demonstrations, fancy diving and many other things for your enjoyment. Then in the evening there will be more entertainment.

Newspaper Week Now Being Celebrated

PROCLAMATION
SEPTEMBER 16, 1936

Inasmuch as the newspaper of today is not only a highly organized business enterprise but a social institution of general public interest, it is fitting that a period of time be set aside for special consideration of its merits.

In presenting incidents of local state, national and even international concern the newspaper, becomes an agency of civic and spiritual progress; and as a member of a great fraternity its influence reaches even to the ends of the earth.

In view of the importance of the press in moulding public opinion, now, therefore, I, Frank F. Merriam, Governor of the State of California, do hereby proclaim the period between October 5th and 12th as "Newspaper Week" in this Commonwealth.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 16th day of September, A. D.

P.T.A. CONTEST

At opening exercises Wednesday morning the awards by the PTA to the winners of the contest to secure members. The train of Miss McCabe's room carried twenty-eight passengers to school winning first place in the drive; Miss Barnes' room second place with twenty-one; and Miss Neal's close behind with twenty members.

The stage of progress among the rooms competing was cleverly shown by a table with toy trains, one for each of the fourteen rooms. Rooms whose trains went down the tracks with as many as fifteen passengers each received one of the trains as an award. Rooms getting fifteen or more people to join the PTA were; Miss Neal's, twenty-one; Mrs. Moon, seventeen; Mrs. Schilling, seventeen; and Miss Shea with fifteen. The total number joining the PTA during the contest were 202.

ATHLETIC BANNERS

Boys' athletic banners were won last week by the teams captained by the following; John Glithero, Edward Klosterman, Alan Daun, Donald Sarrie and David Coons. The boy's sportsmanship banner went to Howard Swith's team.

Girls' athletic banners were won by Lenora Batt, Virginia Walker, Dolly Malcolm and Muriel Brent. The girls' sportsmanship banner went to Jane Richley's team.

STUDYING TREES

H-4, L-5 children in Mrs. Moon's room are studying about trees. Just now they are learning to identify shade trees growing in Ocean Beach Last week they went walking and found several very interesting shade trees as well as some very rare ones. In the near future they hope to have some means of permanent indentification cards made and put up on these trees for the benefit of other tree lovers in Ocean Beach.

SEE CIRCUS

The high first and low second graders of Mrs. Karl's room went to the Circus parade to see some of the animals they are learning about. Many of these children have never seen a real circus parade; to them it was a real interesting experience. Most every child went with his own parent. For those who had no transportation it was furnished them by Mrs. Goeb, Mrs. Addison, Mrs. Karl and Miss Farnum. Already youngsters have visions of a circus in the room, made by themselves and of putting on a circus performance.

BANKING

Tuesday was a big bank day. Many new accounts were opened and the total deposits were $29.34. Percentage of bankers is figured by every room after banking hours, and the room with the highest percent is awarded a banking banner at opening exercises the following morning. The bank banner this week went to Miss Barnes' room who had 30 percent of her children banking. Mrs. Moon's room was second with 25 percent.
